The loading configuration used a span-to-depth ratio of 6: 0 with a symmetric two-point loading configuration, as recommended by Yeh (1997). Two loading points were used so that localized crushing would not occur under a single load-point; how-ever, the loading points were spaced close together so that the test setup would closely simulate a center-point-loaded configuration. Although not necessary for development of design values, we measured the full-span deflection of...
