Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Illustrated Catalogue of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, at Harvard College, Vol. 4: Deep-Sea Corals The deep-sea corals described in these pages were collected in the years 1867, 1868, and 1869, during the expeditions made for the exploration of the Gulf Stream by the United States Coast Survey, B. Peirce, Superintendent, in the steamers Corwin and Bibb, Acting-Master Robert Platt, U. S. N., commanding. It will not be superfluous to preface their description by a condensed statement of the successive steps taken by the Coast Survey in deep-sea researches, and by a short review of our present knowledge of the constitution of the bottom of the sea on the Atlantic coast of the United States. The subject has been already treated in a paper published by me in Petermann's Geographische Mittheilungen, but it may be well to repeat it here for the benefit of English readers. The first step of the investigation may be said to have been taken by the late Professor A. D. Bache, on his assuming the duties of superintendent of...
